Who's Who selects 38 seniors

Thirty-eight Harding students have been named to the 1974-75 list of Who's Who among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Nominations for the national listing of outstanding students were made by the Student Association and approved by the faculty.

Factors considered in selecting the representatives were scholarship, participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, citizenship and service to the college and promise of future usefulness. Senior nominees must have a 2.5 grade point average.

Included in the list are seniors Bruce Augsburg, Gail Beavert, Darrel Bruning, King Buchanan, David Campbell, Donna Case, LaJuana Case, Matt Comotto, Brenda Dimmitt, Phil Eubanks, Aleta Fonville, Bill Fowler, Nanci Garner, Alan Harris, "Cam" Henderson, "Skitch" Henderson, Elaine Huffard, Dianne Kirk;

Mike Lincoln, Randy McCord, Mark McInteer, Kathy McKinney, Valarie Markley, Marc Muncy, "Pete" Nash, Barbara Neller, Karen Olree, Richard Paine, Bob Reynolds, Mackye Sandlin, Doug Shields, David Tipps, Stephen Tucker, Tom Wadsworth, Connie Wilke, Teresa Wolf and Dewitt Yingling.

Bruce Augsburg is an accounting major from Benson, Ill. He is active in TNT social club, and is a member of Alpha Chi honor society. He is club beau for Delta Chi Omega.

WSRO executive president Gail Beavert is from Benton, Ark. She is a social work major and is a member of Kirei Na Ai social club and of Alpha Delta Lambda women's honor group.

Bible major Darrel Bruning is a native of North Little Rock. He is a member of Chi Sigma Alpha social club and is active in Campaigns Northeast. He has served as an S.A. representative.

King Buchanan is a Biblical languages major from Irving, Tex. A member of Omicron Delta men's honor group, he has been president of Knights social club. He served as sports editor of the Bison.

David Campbell of Searcy, is a member of Alpha Chi honor fraternity, Alpha Psi drama fraternity, and Omicron Delta. He is a social science major and has served as president of Galaxy social club.

An elementary education major from Houston, Donna Case is a JOY chairman and a member of Zeta Rho social club. She was selected as homecoming representative her sophomore year.

LaJuana Case, also from Houston, is an art major. She is a member of the art fraternity, Kappa Pi, and has been an officer in Zeta Rho. Miss Case has been a homecoming representative for the past two years.

Bison business manager Matt Comotto is an accounting and business administration major from Syosset, N.Y. A letterman on the cross country team, he was voted most improved student his sophomore year. He is a dean's list student and a member of American Studies group.

Brenda Dimmitt, an elementary education major from Havana, Ark., serves as secretary of the Student Association. A chairman of JOY, she is club queen for Lambda Sigma.

Business education major Aleta Fonville is a dean's list student from Smithfield, Tex. She is a member of the American Studies program and is club queen for Beta Phi Kappa.

S.A. president Bill Fowler is an accounting major from Ann Arbor, Mich. He has been president of TNT and a member of the national championship Emory Business Team.

Ko Jo Kai member Nancie Garner is a native of Rogers,

Ark. Miss Garner is active in WSRO, serving as executive vice-president and dormitory president. She is a member of Campus Players and the A Cappella Chorus.

From Huntsville, Ala. Alan Harris is a biology major. He is currently president of TNT and club beau for Kappa Phi. He is active in men's intramurals and is on the dean's list.

Campbell "Cam" Henderson is a management major from Pullman, Wash. He is a resident assistant, a member of Chorale, American Studies, and Delta Mu Delta. He has been president of Alpha Omega social club.

Phonothon reaches for record pledges for auditorium fund

Harding alumni pledged over $232,000 last week, according to Paul M. Gardner, director of annual giving.

The pledges, added to $102,000 left from the 1974 senior class, boosted the week's total to more than $334,000.

According to the American Alumni Council in Washington, D.C., this is the largest single attempted phonothon in the history of higher education with a goal of $1 million.

If the $1 million goal is attained by December 31, 1974, the Mabee Foundation in Tulsa, Oklahoma, will grant Harding an additional $500,000.

All proceeds will go toward the building of the new auditorium.

The phonothon, which started October 21, will go through November 22. Calls are made Monday through Friday from 5:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. in the Trophy Room of the American Heritage building. About 50 of Harding's staff have volunteered to make the necessary 6,000 calls.

Summing up the reactions to the phonothon, Gardner said: "People are very enthusiastic about Harding."

Jones keynotes second seminar

Ben Jones, minister of youth at the Madison Church of Christ, will speak at the upcoming Bible seminar on November 4.

According to Dr. Jerry Jones, chairman of the Bible department, Ben Jones is the youth minister at the largest congregation of the church of Christ in America. "That is why he is coming to speak here," Dr. Jones said. He will speak here," Dr. Jones said. He will speak on "Evangelism Among Youth."

Club meeting Monday night and in chapel Tuesday and Wednesday. He will also hold a class at 3:25 on Wednesday and speak at both services of the College Church that night.

While in the Air Force, Jones became a Christian under the teaching of L. R. Wilson. Later he enrolled at Arizona State University and served as director of the Christian Student Center from 1958 to 1969. After graduation with a B.S. in Business Administration, he worked part time towards his Masters while serving the Temple church of Christ as a deacon, song leader, and teacher. In 1969, he completed the work on his Masters degree and the Madison church of Christ asked him to be its Minister to Youth.

This is the second in a series of four seminars this year. The first featured Harold McRay. The third will have Dr. Tom Warren speaking on "Evangelism Among the Sceptical," and the third will feature J. C. Bailey speaking on "Evangelism and the World."

Teachers urge students to vote on Tuesday

Political experience supports Mills for effective leadership in Congress

Who is the most qualified candidate? This is the central question in the 1974 Congressional race in the Second District between Wilbur D. Mills and Judy Petty, as it could be in any political contest for public office. As far as the formal Constitutional qualifications are concerned, there is little question that both candidates are qualified, therefore it is the informal qualifications for the office that must be weighed and carefully considered by the voters of the Second District.

Evidently in this particular race for some of the voters the question of the candidates' morals has (only of late) become one of these informal qualifications. If the voter is not to become too emotional over this issue, he should conscientiously scrutinize the morals of both candidates. Of course while Ms. Petty's supporters seem to want to discuss Mr. Mills' morals at length, even though one incident is their chief topic, they become offended when one suggests that the morals of Ms. Petty are also of concern to the voter, if in fact this is a qualification. It should be noted that for many of Ms. Petty's supporters whether morals are an issue varies from election to election.

The morals issue aside, when discussing who is the most qualified candidate and who can do the best job as U.S. Congressperson from the Second District, Mr. Mills is the clear choice for several reasons. One of the most important of these is political experience. Compared to Mr. Mills, Ms. Petty is a political novice and in Congress political effectiveness and seniority are synonymous. It would be decades, if continually elected, before Ms. Petty would have a position equal to that of Mr. Mills in Congress and never if the Congress continues to be Democratic. If political effectiveness is in the best interest of Arkansas, in electing Ms. Petty a large degree of that effectiveness is sacrificed. Even Ms. Petty's committee assignment would be in question.

A second reason why Mr. Mills can best do the job is his rapport with and support from the Democratic delegation from Arkansas, especially in the Senate where legislation sponsored by an Arkansas Congressman must also be approved. Ms. Petty would enjoy no such rapport and support.

Thirdly, Mr. Mills can more effectively represent the Second District in using his influence on behalf of his constituents. Most of those who claim that Mr. Mills is not responsive to the needs of his constituents have never made a request. Again and again he has responded to requests by his constituents in a most effective way with his powerful influence in Washington. Ms. Petty will be long in acquiring such an influence, if ever.

Fourthly, Mr. Mills is the most qualified of the two candidates because of his ability to oppose legislation unfavorable to his constituents. For example, both Mr. Mills and Ms. Petty opposed the new income tax proposal by the Ford Administration. The question is, who will be more effective in opposing this legislation. Mr. Mills as Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee or Ms. Petty as a Republican freshman Congresswoman? It should be noted that Mr. Mills is one of the country's most outstanding expert in tax legislation and fiscal policy.

Many other qualifications and issues could be discussed, each of them only to prove Mr. Mills the most qualified candidate, but in conclusion, change for change-sake in our representation from the Second District is poor and false logic and is representative of the faulty appeal to the voters by Mr. Mills opponent. In fact the inherent weaknesses of the Petty campaign abound. For example, Ms. Petty and President Ford blame Mr. Mills and the Democratic Congress for most of the inflationary and other economic ills of the nation because of excessive spending. It should be noted that most of the appropriations by the Democratic Congress were in response to the large deficit and extremely inflationary budgets of the Nixon Administrations, which Mr. Ford supported as Republican Minority Leader of the House. Mr. Ford voted for these inflationary proposals 86 percent of the time and now he and Ms. Petty condemn Congress and Mr. Mills for what Mr. Ford and the Republicans supported. He now asks us to vote for Republicans, including Ms. Petty, who we are supposed to assume would not have gone along with Mr. Nixon or the Republican leadership in the House had she been there.

If the voter is to exercise his franchise effectively, he must engage in an in depth examination of the qualifications on the whole of the two candidates. If this is done the unavoidable conclusion is that Wilbur D. Mills is the most qualified and thus should be re-elected U.S. Congressman from the Second District.

Petty calls for economic stability through tax reform, less spending

"You mean you would vote for a woman?" My answer is an emphatic "Yes, why not?" Women outnumber men in our population and deserve better representation than they are presently receiving.

When Mrs. Petty visited our campus, I heard her speeches and took notes. Following are positive positions she takes on current issues. To bring inflation under control she would cut the fat out of the budget. Such ridiculous, useless, non-sensible appropriations for studies as "Why Children Fall Off Tricycles" ($28,000); and "The Demographics of Happiness" ($249,000), would not get Mrs. Petty's support.

By cutting the budget less than two percent across the board, savings would result which would save the American tax-payers five billion dollars yearly. We need people like Mrs. Petty who would give more attention to relieving the taxpayer, not soaking him even more.

Mrs. Petty is opposed to legalizing marijuana. She favors a tax deduction for each dependent of $1,150 instead of the current $750.

Mrs. Petty opposes wage and price controls. She supports President Ford's conditional amnesty and would also give attention to getting action in regard to our men in Vietnam who are missing in action.

Mrs. Petty favors the closing of tax loopholes now enjoyed by the wealthy and the large corporations.

People ask me, "How could Mrs. Petty get these changes made? She has no power." Remember, power means little unless it is properly used. Her opponent is reputed to be the second most powerful man in our capital. Yet, instead of seeking tax relief for the little man in our society, he favors policies which would hit that person even harder.

For example, the tax laws currently permit as much as thirty percent of one's income as tax deductible contributions to churches, private colleges such as Harding, and charities. Her opponent has introduced a bill which would do away with these deductions. This would kill many church programs and force many private colleges to close their doors.

Is it not evident that our older, established politicians are all too often proving to be "fat cats," subject to all kinds of bribes and corruption? Isn't it time to get out of office those who have the power but fail to use it properly? Isn't it time to get people in Washington who go there to work and not to swing?

Please join me in voting for Mrs. Judy Petty as our Representative in Congress from the Second Congressional District in Arkansas.

Editor:

I'm very sorry that James McLeod felt it necessary to write such a disparaging letter in response to Kris Siem's plea that we all be more spiritual minded. His "self-evident" conclusion (whatever it may be) is very unedifying to me.

Take heart, Kris: "Blessed are ye when men shall reproach you, and persecute you, and say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake. Rejoice, and be exceeding glad; for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets that were before you." (Matt. 4:11,12)

I'm also very sorry that the Bison exhibited such poor judgment by choosing to dignify a personal attack in print. A newspaper should never be allowed to become a forum for public insults.

May I close with the last paragraph of Kris' letter? (which was edited from the published version): "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honorable, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." (Phil. 4:8)

Sincerely,
Rod Porter

Dear Editor:

In reference to a letter in last week's Bison by James McLeod, I feel it is a shame that Mr. McLeod had to stoop to personal insult in his response to Miss Siem's letter.

Miss Siem's effort was aimed at keeping students from seeing a movie of un-Christian principles and I feel that she should be commended for the effort to improve the atmosphere at Harding College. Perhaps Mr. McLeod will re-consider his statements.

Respectfully,
Wayne Mouldy, Jr.

Dear Editor:

I am an inmate at a federal penitentiary and would appreciate it greatly if you would print my ad in your next few publications of your campus newspaper.

I am a prisoner who needs your letters and pictures to help relieve prison tensions. I am 29 years old, 6 feet, 185 pounds, black hair, blue eyes, good looks.

Thank you for your help and consideration.

"I hate school. How come?" Students express their feelings in many different ways: from writing letters to the editor to talking among themselves in the dormitories. Perhaps the most candid expressions of fear, depression, frustration and exuberance can be found engraved upon desks in the American Studies Building. Some call it graffiti, others call it philosophy. Whatever you choose to call it, it unquestionably reflects the attitudes of the occupants, if only by the mere fact that they are writing on desks.

Perhaps one-fourth the quotations found on desks mirrored frustrations:

This class is horrible!
Please save me
Why me, Lord?
You can hear the whistle blowing a hundred miles
Good-bye cruel world
I can't please everyone.

Our Bison research team found a potpourri of other quotable sayings which revealed possible solutions to problems, zeal, and perplexed feelings:

You must like Arkansas or you wouldn't be here

90 percent of the women in Arkansas are beautiful. The rest go to Harding

I love Steve
I love you, California

George Washington slept here
Memphis: the Blues City of the South.

The Watergate Tapes are on the top 40.

Don't take notes: Thump your nose

Don't worry — I won't
Chi Sigs forever

Our team has selected a few, and only a few, to nominate for the Pulitzer prize in Desk Top Graffiti:

Fears are chains that bind the mind and spirit

"The street watches and the sidewalk hears every thought." Reach out and touch

Why Greek literature? Why not Jewish? They were God's chosen people.

We can
People who write on desks are stupid.

Without trying to interpret the results or trends at this time, our team's purpose was to collect objective data from the tops of desks. The more philosophic writings were found on desks near the front of the room where one desk was even found with 23 pieces of bubblegum attached. The Bison research team concludes that more American studies are going on in the classroom than meets the teacher's eye.

Seminar to discuss relevant roles

"The Christian Communicator" will be the theme of a seminar presented by the Humanities Division, Nov. 11-16, as part of the fiftieth anniversary celebration.

According to Dr. Winfred O. Wright, head of the foreign languages department, the purpose of "The Christian Communicator" is "to show how people in humanities can relate their disciplines to Christian service."

The department of modern and foreign languages is in charge of Monday's agenda. Dr. Carroll Osborn of Vanderbilt University will open the seminar in chapel with a speech on "Foreign Language Skills in Communicating the Gospel."

Other events for the day will include a panel discussion, a dinner, another speech by Dr. Osborn, and a special showing of French and Spanish foreign language films with English subtitles.

Tuesday's program is being directed by the journalism department. It will include a chapel program by Perrin Jones, editor and manager of the Searcy Daily Citizen, a dinner, a speech entitled "The Role of the Christian in Journalism," and a special presentation of selected readings by Lily Peter, poet laureate of Arkansas.

"You Get Under My Skin" will be the chapel program heading Thursday's presentation under the direction of the English department. A panel discussion by Harding English faculty members, a dinner, and "The Christian Communicator and Literature" presented by Dr. Porter King of Freed-Hardeman College round out the day's activities.

The speech department starts Friday's program at 8 a.m. in the American Heritage Auditorium with a series of three speakers and topics. Numerous events are scheduled throughout the day, including a chapel presentation on "The Christian and his Speech Behavior" by Dr. Doyle G. Ward of Southwest Texas State University, a dinner, and a dramatization entitled "Christian Communication Through Drama."

Harriers crush Hendrix

Scoring their first perfect score in three years, the Bison cross country team closed out their regular season schedule with a 15-49 thumping of the Hendrix Warriors last Saturday in Conway.

Harding completely dominated the meet with the top five Bison harriers finishing together to tie for the individual championship. Mark Galeazzi, Marshall Grate, Rock Meservey, David Nixon and Bob Mead ran in close formation for the duration of the race, stepping off a spirited 26:48 clocking as the Bisons won the meet by the widest margin of the year.

Kurt Wiederspan, adding to the awesome display of team depth, took the sixth place with a 27:08 effort while Kent Johnson and Pat Cronin came in together in the eighth position, posting a 27:50 timing. Other Bisons finishers were Pat McClafferty and James Simmons, 28:22; Ken Sewell, 28:45; John McGee, 29:00; and Craig Richardson, 29:32.

Tennis coach David Elliott, subbing for head coach Ted Lloyd who is in Brazil coaching the U.S. AAU team, captured his first cross country win of his career and will retire undefeated.

The five mile course, which winds through numerous fields and pine forests, will also be the sight of tomorrow's Arkansas State AAU Cross Country Championships. Again hosted by Hendrix, the meet will have in addition to the open collegiate division, numerous age group races in both male and female classifications.

The Bisons have captured the AAU meet for the past six years and to hope to add a seventh.

When asked about the upcoming meets, captain Mark Galeazzi felt that "I think we've been running well as a team and that should carry us a long way towards the AIC and NAIA 17 titles."

Although uncertain as to who may appear in tomorrow's competition, the Bisons will be shooting for a strong performance with the AIC-NAIA 17 meet coming up on the 8th of November. The Bisons now rate as the odds-on favorite but expect strong competition from John Brown University and Southern State College.

Bisons to battle Texas Lutheran

The Bison grid-iron squad may face their toughest opponent of the year tomorrow as they face Texas Lutheran College in a non-conference clash in Seguin, Texas.

The Texans are currently riding the crest of seven straight victories this season and are working on an eleven game skein dating back to last year.

Texas Lutheran has rolled over opposition in impressive fashion

Kappas take softball crown

Kappa Phi was awarded first position in the Women's Club Softball standings after their victory over Omega Phi, 18-3 last Thursday night.

Having won the toss, Omega Phi elected to bat with Kappa Phi in the field. After a triple by Debbie Smith, "Smitty," Omega Phi went down one, two, three without a score. When Kappa Phi went to bat their hitting game began with six big runs. It was not until the third inning that Omega Phi scored, while Kappa Phi scored consistently in each inning.

Sherryl Shores lead Kappa Phi with two home runs and seven runs batted in. Karen Knopp aided her team also with two double and a triple.

Errors plagued Omega Phi throughout their entire time in the field. Kappa Phi, playing almost an error free game, demonstrated the proper execution of team-work in the infield and outfield.

Omega Phi played good softball into the final competition, but were defeated from the top position by an excellent women's softball team, Kappa Phi.

while maintaining a firm grip on the number one ranking in Division II of the NAIA.

The best description that could be used to sum up the Bulldogs would be an immovable object with an irresistible force. The Texans have compiled an incredible 460.4 yards per game average, earning them the top position on the nation's total offense charts. The major thrust of their attack rests on their running game which has ground out yardage to the tune of 343.6 yards per contest, good enough for the second spot on the NAIA list.

The defensive unit has been almost as formidable, limiting their opponents to a mere 163.6 yards a game, with only 52.2 coming via the ground. This outstanding record has Texas Lutheran sixth in the nation defensively.

Meanwhile, Harding will be seeking to recover from a rash of injuries that has plagued the team from the start of the season. The greatest losses have been offensively, with the starting line-up changing as often as Arkansas weather. This handicap has made it difficult for John Prock's charges to develop large amount of consistency. Wingback Jack Barber, halfback Joe David Smith, fullback Jackie Alston, quarterback Jeff Smith, center Bobby Floyd, and guards Darrel Pepper and Jerry Chism have all been either hampered or knocked out of action all together due to injuries.

With last week open, the Bisons have had an opportunity to regroup after their 3-3 opening record.

Game time is set for 7:30 tomorrow night at Matador Stadium in Seguin.
